

Figure 7. The climatological monthly mean temperature within the Korea S trait based on MOODS data indicates the development of the summer thermocline and its subsequent deepening and decay during October through November.